

GDPR Disclaimer

Under the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) (EU) 2016/679, we have a legal duty to protect any information we collect from you. Information contained in this email and any attachments may be privileged or confidential and intended for the exclusive use of the original recipient.

Our company does not collect private, personal or public data on any prospective clients or clients that are eventually onboarded. All data obtained by our company is provided to us directly by the clients and prospective clients. That information is held on protected servers within the EU and is only saved for use during the actual transacting time of the client-company transaction. If a client's case is rejected, all submitted documents are permanently deleted from digital files and hand shredded in case of hard copies. If a client has been onboarded, the client's entire case file, upon conclusion of the case, is deleted from all digital files and any hard copies are shredded. Once a case has been rejected and or completed, we destroy all documents submitted by the clients. Our company does not keep any records or documents on file of any kind after this. No exceptions. Finally, our company does not share any submitted client documents or files with any party outside of our company.

Our company does not use cookies or trackers of any kind. It is against our company policy to do so. The privacy and digital security rights of our clients is our top priority.
